1 Lionel was in bad shape. My daughter Nola and I found him bloodied and beaten. He was too weak to haul his poor, broken little body inside the house. By the time we saw him, his battered body had already lost too much blood. Lionel, the duck, died a few minutes later. We never found out who had beaten Lionel, so savagely, or why they felt the need to hurt him. A customer at Nola's store said she found some teenagers jumping the back fence a few minutes before we found Lionel. They were carrying cricket bats.

2 When Nola solely broke the news to her customers over the next few days, they were devastated. One elderly gentleman was especially heart-broken. After doing his weekly shopping, he used to feed Lionel a slice of bread or a biscuit which he kept in his pocket especially for the occasion. They would spend an hour every week like that, just chatting and enjoying each other's company. When he heard about Lionel's death, the old man sat down on the same bench and let the tears run freely down his cheeks. Two weeks later, he was dead.

3 Nola also had to tell the local primary-school children who used to play with Lionel on their way to school. Lionel waddled around them, muttering and letting them feel his soft white feathers while they waited for the bus. Some of the children made sympathy cards for Nola. She also received many condolences — a few from friends and many from strangers. It was only then that we realised how many friends Lionel had made; how many hearts he had touched. It seemed as if the whole town was mourning his death. Lionel was a very social duck.

4 Lionel liked human company and loved to waddle around. Many people who came to the shop enjoyed passing the time of the day with a duck. But it was not just human company Lionel sought. Lionel was friends with an assortment of multicoloured hens and one red rooster. But Lionel also liked spending time quietly by himself.

5 An elderly couple who lived 100 kilometres away read about Lionel's death in the newspaper and drove all the way to Nola's shop to deliver a condolence gift. It was the statue of a duck the elderly man, an invalid pensioner, had made. Nola somberly placed the statue at the head of Lionel's grave. The next day, an acquaintance of mine, exasperated at all the fuss being made, said to me, "He was only a duck !" But he was wrong. Lionel was much more than that. He was a loving friend, not just to me, but to many others and our lives certainly won't be the same without him waddling around.

2. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

1 Every time a child takes a soft drink, he's laying the groundwork for a dangerous bone disease. No, fizzy and sugary drinks don't cause osteoporosis. But, because they are often a substitute for a glass of milk, kids are not getting the calcium and vitamin D they need to build a strong skeleton. Many of them also lead a sedentary lifestyle, so they aren't getting the bone-building benefits for vigorous exercise either. These children aren't just in jeopardy for brittle bones and fractures decades down the road. They could be at a risk of osteoporosis at a younger age than ever before.

2 The Indian Society for Bone and Mineral Research, a body of osteoporosis experts, is trying to spread awareness about this bone-crippling disease. Osteoporosis starts in childhood but has consequences later in life. The condition causes bones to become riddled with holes, like the framework of a house that's been attacked by termites. That can lead to broken bones, which in turn can cause deformity, chronic pain or disability. Osteoporosis can be fatal: up to 25 percent of older people who suffer a broken hip die within a year. Osteoporosis isn't just your grandmother's health threat. Although it strikes over 50 million women in India, it also menaces over 12 million men. Osteoporosis causes loss of height, pain in joints and back, fractures and a fear of fractures, and can be very depressing. So it is important that we adopt preventive measures, to save millions of people.

3 There is a new medical understanding of the best ways to protect ourselves and our children. "Simple lifestyle changes and nutrition will help save your bones," says Dr. Mittal. To get us moving in the right direction, he says, "It's never too late to adopt bone-friendly habits — exercise, get enough sunlight, and have adequate calcium. This way, we can keep our bones healthy and prevent osteoporosis."
