1. Read the passage given below and complete the sentences that follow by choosing the most appropriate options : 1×5=5

My peers always thought of me as a dull boy when I was in school and my teachers never thought differently. That was because I was indeed a dull boy. I was a backbencher, after all.

I could never have been a frontbencher for obvious reasons. I had a persistent paranoia of being under the watchful eye of the teacher. It used to make me self-conscious and I hated being under supervision right from childhood. I wanted to be my own boss.

I have no regrets about having been a backbencher. It is true that I used to occupy one of the seats in the last row of the class but that does not mean that I did not listen to the teacher or that I cheated on homework.

In England, there used to be a dunce's corner for students who were slow learners. A student in the dunce's corner was supposed to be the rough equivalent of a backbencher in our country. Some eminent personalities from whom teachers didn't have very high expectations early on in life included the inventor, Thomas Alva Edison, as well as entrepreneurs, Steve Jobs and Bill Gates. I feel honoured to be in their company!

There are others, of course, who prefer to make funny sounds, complete pending homework and throw chalks at other students — all sitting on those 'privileged seats'.

Believe me, it feels great! Because you not only learn whatever is taught but also get a back-eye-view of everything that happens in the class.

- (a) The paragraph describes _____ .
- (i) the simple joys of the frontbenchers
 - (ii) the simple joys of the backbenchers
 - (iii) the regrets of the author
 - (iv) the achievements of the author
- (b) The backbencher is considered a _____ .
- (i) popular student
 - (ii) bright student
 - (iii) dull student
 - (iv) teacher's favourite
- (c) The backbencher feels great because he/she _____ .
- (i) can complete pending homework
 - (ii) can make funny sounds
 - (iii) can have a back-eye-view of everything that happens in the class
 - (iv) gets opportunity to eat snacks in between
- (d) The expression, 'privileged seats' refers to _____ .
- (i) seats reserved for teachers' favourite students
 - (ii) the last seats meant for the dull students
 - (iii) seats for eminent persons like Bill Gates and Edison

Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high;

Where knowledge is free;

Where the world has not been broken up into fragments by narrow domestic walls;

Where words come out from the depth of truth;

Where tireless striving stretches its arms towards perfection;

Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit;

Where the mind is led forward by thee into ever-widening thought and action –

Into that heaven of freedom, my Father, let my country awake.

(Rabindranath Tagore)

3. Read the passage given below :

1×5=5

One day a rich father took his young son on a trip to the country with the firm purpose to show him how poor people can be. They spent a day and a night in the farm of a poor family. When they got back from their trip the father asked his son, "How was the trip ?" "Very good, Dad!". "Did you see how poor people can be ? The father asked. "Yeah!" "And what did you learn ?"

The son answered, "I saw that we have a dog at home, and they have four. We have a pool that reaches to the middle of the garden, they have a creek that has no end. We have imported lamps in the garden, they have the stars. Our patio reaches to the front yard, they have a whole horizon."

When the little boy was finishing, his father was speechless.

His son added, "Thanks, Dad, for showing me how poor we are!" Isn't it true that it all depends on the way you look at things? If you have love, friends, family, health, good humour and a positive attitude towards life, you've got everything!

You can't buy any of these things. You can have all the material possessions you can imagine, but if you are poor of spirit, you have nothing!
