

Question1

Why does the poet want us to keep quiet?

Answer

The poet wants us to keep quiet to feel the strangeness of being quiet. When we all will keep quiet it will be an exotic moment which will allow us to establish communion with our fellow beings and all other living beings at spiritual level.

Question2

Does the poet advocate total inactivity and death by suggesting being quiet?

Answer

No, the poet does not advocate it. He wants no truck with death. In fact he wants to live life full bloodedly. But by advocating quietness he wants mixing of physical and spiritual aspect of life.

Question3

Why does not the poet want us to speak in any language?

Answer

The poet wants us not to speak in any language to introspect and know what we are about- know the meaning of our existence. He wants everybody to know his spirit and have spiritual contact with others for some time for which no language is required.
